

“He Is Risen” (An Exposition of Mark 16:1-8)<sup>1</sup>

Introduction

Christ’s resurrection from the dead is one of the most important events in history, and one of the most important truths in all of Scripture. The Apostle Paul says that the fact that Jesus Christ “was raised on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures” (1 Corinthians 15:4) was one of the things (along with Christ's death on the cross for our sins and His burial) that is “of first importance” (v.3).

The Scriptures have a lot to say about why Christ's resurrection on the third day is so important. For example, the Apostle Paul says that the Lord Jesus “was declared to be the Son of God in power according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead.” (Romans 1:4). Then in Romans 4:25 Paul goes on to say that Christ was “raised for our justification.”

In 1 Corinthians 15:14, Paul tells us, “if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain and your faith is in vain.” Not only that, but “if Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins” (v.17).

In other words, without the resurrection of Jesus Christ there is no gospel. A dead Savior saves no one. These are just some of the reasons why the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ is “of first importance.” No wonder Paul told Timothy, “Remember Jesus Christ, risen from the dead, the offspring of David, as preached in my gospel.” (2 Timothy 2:8, italics added)

And so the truth of Christ's resurrection, and the implications of it must be preached and taught in the church, and these things cannot be emphasized too much or repeated too often. We need to hear of these things much more often than just once per year at Easter.

The Women at the Empty Tomb

The first thing that Mark tells us about here in our text is the women who were witnesses to Jesus's empty tomb. In v.1-2 Mark writes,

“When the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought spices, so that they might go and anoint him. And very early on the first day of the week, when the sun had risen, they went to the tomb.”

Just as back in the previous passage in Mark 15:42 we are told that Joseph of Arimathea made haste to give the Lord Jesus a proper burial because it was “the day before the Sabbath” (i.e. Friday night), when such work was not to be done, even so now we find these women waiting for the Sabbath to be past, so they could “go and anoint him” (v.1). They wanted to properly anoint His body for burial.

And look how early they went to the tomb - “very early on the first day of the week, when the sun had risen” (v.2). They could not wait. Their grief did not delay them or keep them away. Such was their love for Jesus that they went to His tomb as early as was permissible.

Now in some ways the actions of these women might strike us as a bit odd. For it is clear that they were not anticipating the resurrection! And where were the disciples? (But instead we find them coming to the tomb to anoint His body. In his book, Knowing Christ, Mark Jones writes,

“In the Gospel of Mark Christ makes three explicit predictions of his death and resurrection. These forecasts are so clear that they leave us wondering why the disciples were not waiting outside the tomb on Sunday morning to greet their triumphant Saviour. For example, he plainly told them: ‘the Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes and be killed, and after three days rise again’ (Mark 8:31; see also 9:31; 10:34).”<sup>2</sup>

But there would be no need to anoint the body of the Lord that day, for not only was He already risen from the dead, but we are told that a bit earlier in Mark's Gospel someone else had already anointed Jesus's body for burial ahead of time!

Mark 14:3 tells us that a woman came to Jesus while He was dining at the home of Simon the Leper, and she broke a very costly alabaster jar of perfumed ointment, and poured its contents all over Jesus's head. Many who saw it were indignant about it, and viewed it as wasteful (v.4). Mark 14:6-9 tells us:

“But Jesus said, “Leave her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a beautiful thing to me. For you always have the poor with you, and whenever you want, you can do good for them. But you will not always have me. She has done what she could; she has anointed my body beforehand for burial. And truly, I say to you, wherever the gospel is proclaimed in the whole world, what she has done will be told in memory of her.””

There would not be time to anoint His body for burial after He died on the cross, and so the Lord in His providence saw to it that this woman took care of that ahead of time!

The Angel at the Empty Tomb

That brings us to the angel at the empty tomb – the “young man” (v.5), who was “an angel of the Lord.” (Matthew 28:2). Now when the women got to the tomb, they were wondering who would “roll away the stone” from the entrance of the tomb for them (v.3). But when they got there the stone had already been rolled away! In v.4-5 Mark writes

“And looking up, they saw that the stone had been rolled back—it was very large. And entering the tomb, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, dressed in a white robe, and they were alarmed.”

They could hardly believe their own eyes! The stone, which Mark tells us “was very large” (v.4), was not just rolled away, but rather was “rolled back” (v.4).

Moving such a large, heavy stone out of the way enough for these women to go in and anoint the body of Jesus was one thing, but rolling the stone back into place (i.e. back into the place where it was before Jesus was entombed there), would have taken some real doing! It would have required rolling that massive stone back up the incline from which it had been rolled down to close and seal the tomb!

That would have taken some real power! No wonder the women were so “alarmed” (v.5) or astonished beyond measure. The next thing that Mark tells us of is the message of the angel. In v.6-7 Mark writes,

“And he said to them, “Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He has risen; he is not here. See the place where they laid him. But go, tell his disciples and Peter that he is going before you to Galilee. There you will see him, just as he told you.””

The first thing that he tells them is not to be alarmed or afraid. The angel then tells them, “You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified” (v.6). They had the right idea in seeking Jesus, the One “who was crucified.” But they were looking for Jesus in the wrong place! They were seeking the living among the dead (Luke 24:5).

The next words of the angel are some of the greatest words to ever be uttered in all of history: “He has risen; he is not here.” And as if to emphasize for them the truth of what he was saying, he tells them, “See the place where they laid him” (v.6). William Hendriksen writes:

“Why did the angel have to remove the stone? Not to enable Jesus to make his way out—for see John 20:19, 26—but to enable these women, and also Peter and John, to enter the tomb.”<sup>3</sup>

The angel, this angelic messenger from God then gives these women the honor of telling the disciples the good news of Christ's resurrection. He says, “But go, tell his disciples and Peter that he is going before you to Galilee. There you will see him, just as he told you” (v.7).

Notice that he singles out Peter. He not only includes Peter, but makes sure that they know that Peter (who had denied the Lord three times) was to be included in this message of great joy. What a great kindness and mercy to Peter this was! How great must his joy have been at hearing this news!

And notice also that the angels said that all of this was “just as he told you” (v.7). Again, the disciples should have been expecting the resurrection of Jesus. Back when Jesus predicted that the disciples would all fall away and abandon Him when He went to the cross, Jesus also foretold of His coming resurrection, and that they would see Him again in Galilee! In Mark 14:27-28 the Lord Jesus said,

“You will all fall away, for it is written, ‘I will strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered.’ But after I am raised up, I will go before you to Galilee.”

He prophesied to them beforehand of His death and resurrection, and even promised them that although they would abandon Him in His darkest hour (which He would undergo for their salvation and ours), He would not abandon them! They would see Him again!

And so what did the women do? How did they respond to this commission to go and tell the disciples? In v.8 Mark writes,

“And they went out and fled from the tomb, for trembling and astonishment had seized them, and they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.”

The reaction of the women in our text is surely one of those little details that demonstrates the truth and trustworthiness of Mark's account. It has that strange ring of truth to it, as no one would make it up this way. (The rest of the chapter has that very same strange ring of truth to it, with the disciples refusing to believe what they heard about the resurrection of their Lord – v.11, 13.)

The Message of the Empty Tomb

That brings us to our third and final point – the message of the empty tomb. What are we to take from all of this? The first thing for us is to be assured of the truth of Scripture, and the good news of the gospel that our Lord Jesus Christ lives – He has risen from the dead! That may sound strange to the world's ears, but it is music to a believer's ear!

The Heidelberg Catechism offers us a helpful snapshot of the importance of the resurrection of Christ, as well as the benefits of it to all believers in Jesus:

“Q.45. What does the "resurrection" of Christ profit us?

A. First, by his resurrection he has overcome death, that he might make us partakers of that righteousness which he had purchased for us by his death; secondly, we are also by his power raised up to a new life; and lastly, the resurrection of Christ is a sure pledge of our blessed resurrection.”

The first benefit of Christ's resurrection is that because He overcame death, He now makes us partakers of all that He purchased for us by His death on the cross – righteousness and justification!

By His death on the cross Jesus Christ paid in full the infinite debt of our sins against God, so that all of our sins might be freely forgiven, and that we might be reconciled to God and accepted by Him as righteous in His sight because of Christ's perfect righteousness being imputed to us by faith in Him!

We can only be partakers of those great blessings of salvation that Christ purchased by His death on the cross if He is risen from the dead! That is why Paul tells us that Christ was “raised for our justification” (Romans 4:25).

The second benefit of Christ's resurrection is that we are now raised with Him in the power of His resurrection “to a new life.” This is the new birth and sanctification, whereby the reign of sin over us is now broken, and we are enabled more and more to die unto sin and live unto righteousness (WSC.35).

The third benefit of Christ's resurrection is that “the resurrection of Christ is a sure pledge of our blessed resurrection.” Because He lives, we not only have new spiritual life, but we also then have in Him a “sure pledge” or guarantee of our own “blessed resurrection.” As our Lord tells us in John 11:25–26,

“I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, and everyone who lives and believes in me shall never die. Do you believe this?”

Death no longer has the last word over a believer in Christ. That is why when a dearly beloved believer in Christ dies, we do not grieve as those who have no hope (1 Thessalonians 4:13), and know that we will be reunited with all the dearly departed saints at the resurrection, so that we will all be with the Lord forever (v.17).

It is because of all of this that the Apostle Paul closes out 1 Corinthians 15 (that great chapter on the return of Christ and the resurrection) with these words:

“Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.” (1 Corinthians 15:58)

Because of the resurrection of Christ, and the sure hope of our own future resurrection in glory with Him, our labor is not in vain if we are serving the Lord. Our work in His name is not wasted. A life lived for Christ is never wasted or in vain.

And so because Jesus is risen, we who are believers in Christ have every reason to (as Paul says there) “be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord.” - Amen
